

The Partisan Divide is on the Rise

Over the last few decades House Republicans have become more conservative and House Democrats have become more liberal increasing the divide between the two. However its hard to see any direct impact from gerrymandering.

Notes: DW NOMINATE Scores represent how liberal or conservative a member of congress is on a scale from -1 to 1 with -1 being the most liberal, 1 being the most conservative, and 0 being moderate. The lines represent the average score of each member of the Democratic Party and Republican Party.

Source: <https://voteview.com/>