

Did Gerrymandering Lead to a More Polarized Congress ?

While Republican controlled redistricting lead to slightly more partisan representatives in congress, Courts decided boundaries had basically the same outcome and commissions did little better.

